

THE AMERICAN POST

BANKS NEVER ASK

Every year, thousands of people like you lose money to phishing. If a hacker were pretending to be your bank via call, text or email, would you be able to tell? If you don't think you can, here are a few tips that will help you identify the truth.

- High-pressure language
- Scare tactics
- A sense of urgency

- Ask you to visit an unfamiliar website
- Ask you to call a number different than the one listed on your card

- Ask for sensitive account info
- Ask for passwords or your Social Security number
- Ask for your PIN or a login code that's texted to you

- Incorrect grammar
- Unprofessional language
- Multiple typos

- Email attachments
- Suspicious links
